

ELEPHANTS

Lately arrived in the Rose East Indiaman.

A most wonderful living Male Elephant, and to be seen in a commodious Room over Exeter 'Change, in the Strand. This noble Animal is allowed, by the Curious in Nature's Productions, to far exceed all others in the Quadruped Creation, in the known World, for its vast Bulk, amazing Sagacity, and most surprizing Form and Strength: the Elephant, when full grown, measures from Fourteen to Fifteen Feet high, and carries Cattles and Towers on their Backs, with more than Twenty Men and their Baggage, and will also carry a large Cannon in their Trunks; their Teeth are Ivory, and weigh upwards of 150lb. each, and measures from Six to Nine Feet long; notwithstanding, it is so exceeding tame and familiar, that a Child may sit on its Back, and feed it with the greatest Safety. Admittance 1s. each. Likewise is lately added to the Grand Menagerie now exhibiting in the Great Room as above, Two very singular and most wonderful KANGAROOs, Male and Female, from Botany Bay; they are the only two living Animals of the Kind ever exposed to Public View in Europe. Admittance 1s. each. Also, just arrived, and to be seen in a commodious Apartment under the Great Room as above, Three stupendous living PELICANS of the Wilderness, Two Males and One Female; they are Natives of the great Lakes and Rivers of Arabia; in short, Three such very extraordinary fine Birds have not been seen together in this Country for a Century. Admittance 1s. each, or the Three Exhibitions viewed for 2s. 6d. each.—The Guillotine seen gratis by those who view the Whole.
